This team will organize and support an educational conference for providers, survivors, and family members of those with brain injury.

The conference — held in November in Salt Lake City — will be a forum for community engagement and education and will bring together top researchers and stakeholders in an engaging and integrated format.

We will have a keynote speaker and interactive discussions addressing the latest information and training about recovering from brain injury, including:

- Can diet affect recovery from brain injury?
- CBD or not CBD: A discussion on medical cannabis
- Intimate partner violence and brain injury

This project will develop and transfer new knowledge, engaging participants at all levels in new learning. At the same time, we will engage communities to improve health.

COLLABORATORS

CANDACE FLOYD
Project Owner
JEREMY DAVIS
SUMMER ROLIN
School of Medicine
Div. of Physical Med/Rehab

ELAINE CLARK
College of Education
Educational Psychology

YANA SUCHY
College of Social and Behavioral Science
Psychology

ELISABETH WILDE
School of Medicine
Neurology

PROJECT INFO
Funded Project Amount
$30K